

6th World Water Forum « Time for Solutions »

World Water Forums are set up every 3 years since 1997. Appearing as the major international event on water management, each edition gathers about 25 000 stakeholders from the water and sanitation sector.

From March 12th to 17th 2012, the 6th World Water Forum will be held in the city of Marseille. The process of Marseille is the « Time for Solutions » edition, and aims at presenting concrete compromise and solutions for water and sanitation issues, identified during previous international meetings.

Every kind of stakeholders will take part in the Forum: professionals from private and public sectors, politicians, researchers, seniors, as well as juniors and students, etc.

It will be a unique opportunity to bring a cross-disciplinary approach, bridging professionals from all origins about fundamental and urgent topics.

Young Professionals, get yourselves ready for the WWF!

New generations, the « Time for Solutions » edition of the World Water Forum is for you! Through the Forum's activities, meet your peers, and strengthen your knowledge about the stakeholders map and many questions related to water and sanitation. This event also represents a great opportunity to share your ideas, compare your points of view, communicate about your projects and even open new partnerships!

Insisting on the solutions for water and sanitation access, the Forum gives you a shot to take advantage of your experience and broadcast your knowledge.
